

The University of Georgia

The Graduate School

Designing Program Websites to Attract the Best Doctoral Students

September 10, 2008

12:00 to 1:30 pm

Tate Center, Room 141

FACULTY PRESENTERS

Dr. Jody Clay-Warner

Sociology

Focus: Application process and insights

Dr. Kevin DeWeaver

Social Work

Focus: Student resources

Dr. Dana Bultman

Romance Languages

Focus: Program-specific opportunities

Dr. Rodney Mauricio

Genetics

Focus: Biographical data of faculty, students, and alumni

SHARING BEST PRACTICES TO RECRUIT THE RIGHT PEOPLE FOR DOCTORAL STUDIES

This is the first of four seminars that are part of the Graduate School's initiative to optimize doctoral completion. This seminar will focus on important information that departments can provide on their Websites to help prospective doctoral students make decisions about applying to your program. Four programs with well-planned Websites will share information about specific portions of their site – the decisions that were made in designing the site, why they decided to include this information, and how it helps prospective students understand the demands and expectations of doctoral study.

To register, go to:

<http://www.uga.edu/gradschool/cgs/completion/ugainitiative.html>

Click on “Seminar Registration”