GRSC 8200: Communicating Science and Scholarship
(1 credit)

Monday 9:05 - 11:00 a.m.

Course meets ONLY the first 7 weeks of the semester.

This course is designed to help students learn to communicate their research to non-specialist audiences.

Students will develop a set of skills focused on: communicating across disciplines; communicating with lay audiences; education and outreach; working with the media; using social media; and linking scholarship and policy.

Faculty from Theatre and Film Studies and Journalism, as well as staff members from Public Affairs, the Office of the Vice President for Research, and the Graduate School, provide hands-on training and feedback.
